Polytron, Inc. Named 2015 System Integrator of the Year

DULUTH, GA — December 10, 2014 — Polytron, Inc., a leading CSIA Certified engineering consulting and systems integration firm based in Duluth, Georgia, is proud to announce that it has been named 2015 System Integrator of the Year by CFE Media.

Each year, system integrators around the world compete for the title of System Integrator of the Year based on achievements in the areas of technical expertise, business skills, and customer satisfaction. Hosted by Control Engineering, entries are reviewed by a panel of industry experts who select one winner from each of the three revenue categories.

Polytron has been providing automation and control system engineering services to the manufacturing industry for more than 30 years. The company's motto "Connecting Process, People and Performance" reflects the broad spectrum of technical services Polytron offers from system analysis and planning to engineering and design, project management, installation, and certification.

CFE Media Judge Dennis Brandl finds Polytron's motto to be fitting. "They have the business processes and management processes in place to provide excellent service. Their commendations for work well done is impressive, covering a wide range of industries and process types, showing that there is a depth and breadth of experience in the company."

Judge Mark Hoske agrees that Polytron has not only succeeded in the past, but is likely to fare even better in the future, as evidenced by the words of the company's vice president of business development, Brent Stromwall: "Polytron will continue to invest heavily in both our operations and the business development disciplines. Based on client feedback and market research, we have restructured Polytron to more effectively meet our clients' needs and address their market pressures with higher quality services and deliverables."

"Being named 2015 System Integrator of the Year is the highlight of my career," says founder and CEO Charlie Jager. "I am proud of the high quality professional engineering team we have built over the past 30 years. It is the passion for this work that is demonstrated time and again with our clients and our technology providers. Our work is about technology and our employees are continually learning and advancing as the technology changes." The company's original Purpose Statement, created as a reflection of its culture: "Putting innovation to work, making a positive impact on quality of life," remains unchanged today and is a cornerstone for our service and solutions delivery.
